2. Examiner's Amendment

Applicant acknowledges the allowance issued by the Examiner. However, applicant wishes to modify the Examiner's amendment to the title. The present invention is characteristic of having alternating and parallel slits and protrusions. The word "projection" is not used in the specification or claims. Therefore, applicant has changed the original title as follows: "Multi-Domain vertical alignment liquid crystal display panel comprising alternating and parallel slits and protrusions." This amendment is fully supported by the specification and claims. No new matter is added.

As the above-identified amendment is merely directed to formal matters in the specification and claims without changing the scope thereof, consideration of the title amendment is respectfully requested.
